Ladies and Gentlemen,

The 10th Witold Lutoslawski International Cello Competition is another instalment in the continued centenary celebration of the birth of the creator of Grave. We are pleased that once again the Institute of Music and Dance is associated with its co-organization.

Young musicians from around the world will once again compete under the auspices of Lutoslawski. As history shows - these encounters are always at a championship level, and from each edition, the winners of the competition are later triumphant on the world stage.

To all the participants of this noble competition, I wish the gaining of awards and honours, and to all the judges and the audience - an unforgettable art experience and fond memories of your stay in Warsaw.
